

CALL FOR MANUSCRIPTS: VOLUME 2

The Astrosociology Research Institute proudly announces its second call for manuscripts for The Journal of Astrosociology (<http://astrosociology.org/joa.html>). The Journal of Astrosociology is the first academic journal dedicated to the study of the two-way relationship between human society and the outer space environment. The journal seeks to promote research into astrosocial phenomena, i.e., social, cultural, and behavioral patterns related to outer space. The journal will publish inter- and multi-disciplinary research, as well as essays that fall into the sphere of astrosociology. The journal will also accept book reviews that relate to astrosociological topics as well as space and society issues.

All manuscripts will go through a blind peer-review process by distinguished members of the Editorial Board. Our competent and knowledgeable editorial staff will handle the editorial process. Each volume of The Journal of Astrosociology will be published online and freely available for download from our Virtual Library, where you will also find resources on astrosociological topics and publications and back issues of our newsletter Astrosociological Insights (<http://astrosociology.org/vlibrary.html>).

Deadline for Manuscripts: October 31, 2015.

The Journal of Astrosociology is the official journal of the Astrosociology Research Institute and the primary resource for astrosociological theory and research. The unique approach expected for contributions to this journal involves a specific reference to astrosocial phenomena. It is this focus on the human dimension of space, the relationship between space and humankind, which sets astrosociology apart from other approaches. Contributors should incorporate the field of astrosociology into their manuscripts and focus on astrosocial phenomena in some recognizable fashion.
